

Project Overview

Mission and purpose

TL&C; Farmland, Inc. is developing a nonprofit residential agriculture program to provide a welcoming, affirming community for youth aging out of foster care and youth experiencing homelessness. Its vision combines housing, agricultural learning, life skills and workforce development.

What is proposed

The preliminary concept includes approximately 15 tiny homes in three clusters, four community-use buildings, growing areas, greenhouses, a small farm storefront, and landscaped gathering areas. The April 2026 financial planning report also modeled six greenhouses and support facilities. All components remain subject to feasibility, financing and approvals.

Agricultural approach

A human-scale farm emphasizing raised beds, container gardening, crop cultivation, greenhouse growing, composting and evaluation of aquaponics. Youth would have opportunities for supervised learning in growing, harvesting, food distribution and business skills.

Current project status

Seeking approximately 10–20 acres in North Carolina, with Guilford County and other feasible locations under consideration. No parcel, construction budget, grants, or regulatory approvals are represented as secured.

Invitation to landowners

We welcome conversations about suitable land for sale, a long-term lease or a mission-aligned land-access partnership.

October 2026 • Development-stage materials. Conceptual imagery depicts proposed facilities, not existing farm operations. Financial projections are unverified planning assumptions.